Hector Guimard

10 March 1867 - 20 May 1942

EST UN ARCHITECTE FRANÇAIS et le représentant majeur de l'Art nouveau, en France. Dans la mouvance artistique internationale de son temps, Guimard fait figure de franc-tireur isolé : il ne laisse aucun disciple derrière lui, ni aucune école et c'est la raison pour laquelle il a pu être longtemps considéré comme un acteur secondaire de ce mouvement. Cette absence de postérité contraste avec l'inventivité formelle et la profusion typologique extraordinaires de son œuvre architecturale et décorative, où l'architecte donne le meilleur de lui-même en une quinzaine d'années d'intense activité créatrice et dont, outre les entrées des stations de métro parisiennes, le Castel Béranger et l'hôtel Guimard sont les réalisations les plus abouties.

Hector Germain Guimard naît à Lyon le 10 mars 1867 au no 46 de l'avenue de Saxe. Son père, Germain René Guimard, est un orthopédiste né à Toucy dans l'Yonne. Sa mère, Marie Bailly, née à Larajasse dans le Rhône, est lingère.

Aux environs de 1880, la famille abandonne Lyon pour Paris. Mais le jeune Hector quitte rapidement le giron familial et trouve refuge auprès d'une parente de la famille, Apollonie Grivellé, riche propriétaire à Auteuil ; ce fait, comme d'autres, apporte un certain crédit à une hypothétique mésentente du fils avec sa famille.

En 1882, le jeune Guimard, âgé de quinze ans, entre à l'École nationale supérieure des arts décoratifs et est admis en section d'architecture l'année suivante. Il suit alors l'enseignement d'Eugène Train et de Charles Genuys, disciple de Viollet-le-Duc, qui sensibilise le futur architecte aux théories de Viollet-le-Duc, dont les Entretiens sur l'architecture qui jettent, dès 1863, les bases des futurs principes structurels de l'art nouveau. Guimard utilisera directement certains des modèles de Viollet-le-Duc en hommage à son maître. Il sera aussi « profondément un adepte de Viollet-le-Duc dans l'utilisation de la nature pour la décoration ». L'enseignement reçu à l'École des arts décoratifs semble convenir parfaitement au jeune Hector qui y remporte de beaux succès et aspire en 1885 à intégrer l'École nationale des beaux-arts. Admis, il s'inscrit dans l'atelier libre de Gustave Raulin, fondé en 1860 par Vaudremer. L'enseignement qu'il reçoit présente sans doute peu de rupture avec le précédent, mais ses résultats sont plus pâles que ceux obtenus à l'École des arts décoratifs. Il tente en 1892 le concours du prix de Rome, mais échoue à la deuxième éliminatoire. Le diplôme d'architecte lui échappe également, étant donné qu'il avait atteint la limite d'âge de trente ans, en 1897.

Guimard commence sa carrière d'architecte par l'édification en 1888 d'un café-concert, Le Grand Neptune, sur les quais d'Auteuil. Il participe l'année suivante à l'Exposition universelle de 1889, en construisant le Pavillon de l'électricité, un édicule voué aux techniques de l'électrothérapie.

Les premières réalisations importantes, marquées tant par l'héritage théorique de Viollet-le-Duc que par le vocabulaire formel de ce dernier, apparaissent avec les années 1890.

L'hôtel Roszé (1891), et surtout l'hôtel Jassedé (1893), combinent ainsi avec bonheur recherche

Rudolf Koch

20 November 1876 - 9 April 1934

WAR EIN DEUTSCHER TYPOGRAF, Grafiker, Kalligraf, Buchgewerbezeichner und Ziseleur. Rudolf Koch erlernte im Alter von sechzehn Jahren in einer Metallwarenfabrik in Hanau das Ziselieren. Parallel dazu besuchte er die dortige Zeichenakademie. Es folgte der Besuch der Kunstgewerbeschule in Nürnberg und der Technischen Hochschule in München. Nach einer Anstellung als Zeichner und Maler in Leipzig und einem Aufenthalt in London gelangte Rudolf Koch zum Druckgewerbe, in dem er seinen wahren Beruf sah.

Im Jahre 1906 trat Koch in die Rudhardsche Gießerei (später Gebr. Klingspor) in Offenbach ein. Hier entwarf er wegweisende Schriftarten wie die Kabel. Einige seiner Entwürfe wurden aber erst nach seinem Tod vollendet. Hugo Eberhardt holte ihn an die heutige Hochschule für Gestaltung in Offenbach am Main, wo 1933 eine aufwendig gestaltete und produzierte Deutschlandkarte entstand. Eine Freundschaft verband ihn mit der Firma Heintze & Blanckertz, für deren Zeitschrift „Die zeitgemäße Schrift – Zeitschrift für Schrift- und Formgestaltung“ er regelmäßig schrieb. Diese veröffentlichte auch Bücher von ihm. Als Grafiker war Koch auch für den Insel Verlag tätig.

Karl Friedrich Lippmann porträtierte Rudolf Koch in einem Holzschnitt. Kochs Kinder eröffneten im Haus Fürsteneck in Frankfurt die Werkstatt Haus zum Fürsteneck, wo zahlreiche Werke Rudolf Kochs verlegt wurden.

Kochs Bemühungen bezogen sich auch auf die Erneuerung der deutschen Schreibschrift, die in der gegen Ende des 18. und zu Beginn des 19. Jahrhunderts vorherrschenden Form der Deutsch- schen Kurrentschrift formal erstarrt und schwierig zu schreiben war. Im Gegensatz zu Ludwig Sütterlin, der seine Sütterlinschriften unter dem Aspekt der leichten Erlernbarkeit für Schulkinder entwickelt hatte, hat Koch mit seiner Offenbacher Schrift eine ausdrucksstarke Charakterschrift geschaffen. Über die Frakturschrift schrieb Koch einmal: „Wie dunkler Tannen würziger Harzduft, wie wenn die Amsel weithin durch den Abend ruft, wie des Wiesengrases leichtschwankende Zierlichkeit, herrlichste, deutschesche Schrift, so lieben wir dich seit langer Zeit“. Ein anderes Mal beschrieb er sie als „eines der schönsten und ehrwürdigsten Denkmäler des deutschen Volksgemütes“.

Rudolf Koch wurde von vielen Leuten um ein Kunstblatt gebeten. In all diesen Fällen schickte er diesen Leuten diese Postkarte.

Neben der Entwicklung von Schriften galt Kochs Interesse der Erneuerung des kirchlichen Kunsthandwerks. Er entwarf Leuchter, Paramente, Abendmahlsgäste und andere Objekte für Kirchenausstattungen. In besonderer Weise profitierte hier von die Offenbacher Friedenskirche, deren Gemeindemitglied und Kirchenvorsteher er war. Sein Stil und die von ihm zuerst 1923 im Zeichenbuch (Neuausgabe 1984: Insel-Bücherei 1021/2) vorgestellten Symbolen waren bis in die späten 1960er-Jahre so beherrschend, dass es kaum eine evangelische Kirche in Deutschland gab, in der nicht irgendein Ausstattungsstück von Kochs Stil beeinflusst war.

Zusammen mit Fritz Kredel und Berthold Wolpe (Holzschnitte) und unter Einbeziehung weiterer Schüler arbeitete Koch (Kalligraphie) bis 1933 an einer großformatigen Karte von Deutschland und den angrenzenden Gebieten, die 1934 bei H.F. Jütte im Sechs-Farben-Druck hergestellt...

Due to incomplete counterparty breakdown, components do not always sum to totals. See annex for abbreviations.² Because two currencies are involved in each transaction, the sum of transactions in individual currencies comes to twice the total reported turnover.

Peggo Fonts Foundry Chilean based foundry, founded in 2002 by Pedro González, started as a calligraphic fonts studio, then spontaneously became into a font foundry producer, always with a fresh eye solving our constant contemporary global design needs. We focus our efforts on reach an attractive balance between aesthetic and function for the sake of better reading/writing and design experience. Working on innovative concepts and features, we do "real calligraphy" and handmade lettering based fonts, geometric and mathematical schematics, optical adjustments, contextual alternate programming, nested ligatures, swashes and curls, classic and modern numeral and mathematical arrangements and figures, typographic ornaments, miscellaneous symbols, pictograms and emojis, all powered by OpenType technology. https://www.peggofonts.com	Marcelo Quiroz Duarte Chilean calligrapher and type designer, who contributes to Latinotype on projects like "Revista" (2015), "Diploma Script" (2017), "Emperor" (2020) and to Pegglo Fonts Foundry on "PGF-Elyss Family" (2022). "Revista" is a typographic system and a "Tipos Latinos 2016" award winner. It was designed co-working with Paola Nazal Selave, Marcelo Quiroz and Daniel Hernández. It brings together all the features to undertake any fashion magazine-oriented project. It has connected Script, Stencil, Dingbats, Inline and the didone style all caps set of typefaces. "Diploma Script" is a modern copperplate script font that born from merging classic calligraphy and contemporary tools. "Emperor" is a calligraphic trajan alike typeface based on his knowledge gained from instruction by master calligraphers—provides a fresh perspective on classic typefaces, with 3 styles, classic, hand and rough. Second place - Silver in the typography category in the Ladawards 2021. "PGF Elyss" based in Jean Larcher calligraphy, a roman typeface with a high x-height, accompanied by a Lombardic and a Script, all with a strong influence by Art Nouveau aesthetic In October 2017 and 2018, take part at Sheila and Julian Waters Masterclass for calligrapher to improve his craftsmanship.
